NATIONAL LEAGUE MEETING

Disability List Abolished-Protest Against Draft Rule Now in Use in Drafting From AA Leagues

New York, Dec. 12.—Routine business occupied the attention of the National League magnates here today during the first session of the annual meeting which is expected to continue seeting which is expected to continue until Thursday. The more important subjects, such as changes in the world's series regulations; the International League defiance of the national commission in the matter of the $9,000 award to the Brooklyn club; the Barney Dreyfuss-Garry Herrmann controversy and the possi-ble reprimand of Manager John J. Mc-Graw of the New York Nationals for his outburst-against his players in the final Brooklyn-New York series at the close of the pennant season were not mentioned, according to the official report of the meeting.

The meeting was preceded by a conference of the board of directors at the close of which it was announced that most of the session had been taken up in listening to fiscal reports and the formula was religious. taken up in listening to fiscal reports and the formal awarding of the 1916 pennant to the Brooklyn club. After luncheon the presidents and other representatives of the eight clubs assembled and the session continued until after six o'clock. During the afternoon the league officers and the club executives listened to reports by President John K. Tener and Secretary John A. Heydler.

John A. Haydler. Disability List Abolished. The magnates abolished the disability list under which clubs were permitted last season to carry extra players and adopted a new rule for 1917 allowing each club to carry twenty-two players from May 15 to August 31 in place of the 21 player rule in vogue in 1916. At other periods of the season the thirty-five player regulation will prevail as heretofore.

The committee on constitution was instructed to draw up an amendment for adoption at the meeting February The magnates abolished the disabilminutes behind actual operations. Short overings served in some instances to ease final prices, but in no noteworthy cases were rallies more than nominal. Many weak-margined accounts were thrown over and "stop

Protest Against Draft Rule.

A committee representing the American Association presented a protest against the draft-rule now in operation against class AA leagues and the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, through a committee, presented a petition requesting the formation of a board of arbitration to settle disputes between the major and minor league representatives with a fifth member to be selected outside of baseball ranks. Both requests were tabled for further consideration.

Tener Comments on World's Series

Rules.

President Tener, in his report, recommended that official action be taken by the league looking to revision of the world's series rules, especially with the view of setting aside a part of the players' percentage for distribution among the players of other clubs not participating in the series, the same to be apportioned on the relative standing of these clubs in their respective leagues. The report also commented on the restoration of peace in baseball, which resulted in the league as a whole enjoying its most successful season, the attendance in 1916 being greater than in any other season in the histery of the league, surpassing the previous banner season of 1909.

From other sources, however, it was learned that Fred Mitchell, pitcher's coach for the Boston club, had been approached and had stated that he would be willing to accept the position at the terms stipulated provided a deal for players or cash could be arranged between the Chicago and Boston clubs. Manager George Stallings of the Boston club said he had named seyeral players of the Chicago team who would satisfy him in return for the release of Mitchell but that so far as he knew no agreement had been reached between Presidents Weeghman and Haughton. QUAKERS NOT O NELI'S SCHEDULE NEXT SEASON Lehigh and W. & J. Also Excluded From Season's Games.

Although the International Leasue club owners deliberated for over eight hours today before ending their annual business meeting, President Barrow said no reference had been made to the league's refusal to abide by the national commission's fiat in regard to the payment of $9,000 by the Newark club to the owners of the Brookiyn National League club.

"That matter was fully discussed yesterday," said President Barrow, "and I have nothing to add to what I gave out at the time our delegates voted to obey the mandate of the national commission." Yale will be unable to place the University of Pennsylvania on its football schedule for next fall, according to information received Thursday. It has been decided to shorten the playing schedule, and at the same time take on easier opponents than the Quakers, who are regarded as likely to prove one of the most formidable teams in the country next fall.

Yale hopes to give Penn a game before long, but a contest cannot be arranged for next season. Bob Folwell, the Quaker coach, left New Haven on Thursday after a long session with the Yale officials, who assured him that his team would have a chance to play the Blue within the next few years.

It was announced that Lehigh and Washington and Jefferson would not be found on the Eli bookings for next fall. The management is planning two innovations.
